Ladies and gentlemen, dear colleagues,

It is my great pleasure to welcome you on behalf of the Faculty of Transport and Traffic Engineering.

This year, our faculty celebrates 60 years of existence. I believe those are the best years.

Department of Air Transport has created the history of our faculty. Today, I believe, Department of Air Transport presents one of the most significant contributions that lead us into the future.

One of the most important components of our work is certainly an international cooperation.

That means, the seminar Volcanic Ash Crisis 2010 is absolutely essential part of the faculty future development.

At the end, I wish you to be comfortable in our faculty. I believe that the conclusions of this seminar will be useful to all segments of airline industry.

Please, enjoy the work and all the best.
